The City Mouse and the Country Mouse

Once upon a time, there were two mice who were cousins. One lived in the city and was called the City Mouse, and the other lived in the country and was called the Country Mouse.

One day, the City Mouse invited the Country Mouse to visit him in the city. The Country Mouse was delighted and accepted the invitation. When he arrived, the City Mouse showed him around the city and took him to the finest restaurants, where they feasted on delicious food scraps.

The Country Mouse was amazed by the abundance of food in the city, but he was also frightened by the noise and hustle and bustle of the streets. He missed the peace and quiet of the countryside.

One night, as they were feasting in a grand dining room, the two mice heard a loud noise. It was a cat! The City Mouse knew how to hide, but the Country Mouse was terrified and ran back to the safety of the countryside.

When he returned home, the Country Mouse was grateful for the simple life he led in the country. He may not have had fancy food or luxurious surroundings, but he was safe and happy.
