Wolf and the Crane

A Wolf had been eating too fast, and a bone got stuck in his throat. He couldn't swallow it or cough it up, and he wasn't able to eat anything else. For a greedy Wolf, this was a big problem. So, he ran to the Crane, thinking that with her long neck and beak, she could pull the bone out.

"I'll give you a big reward," said the Wolf, "if you get the bone out for me."

The Crane was nervous about putting her head into the Wolf's mouth, but because she was greedy, she agreed to help.

She reached in and pulled the bone out.

Once the bone was gone, the Wolf started to leave.

"But what about my reward?" the Crane called out.

"What!" growled the Wolf, turning around.

"Isn't it enough that I didn't bite your head off?"

Don't expect a reward for helping someone wicked.
