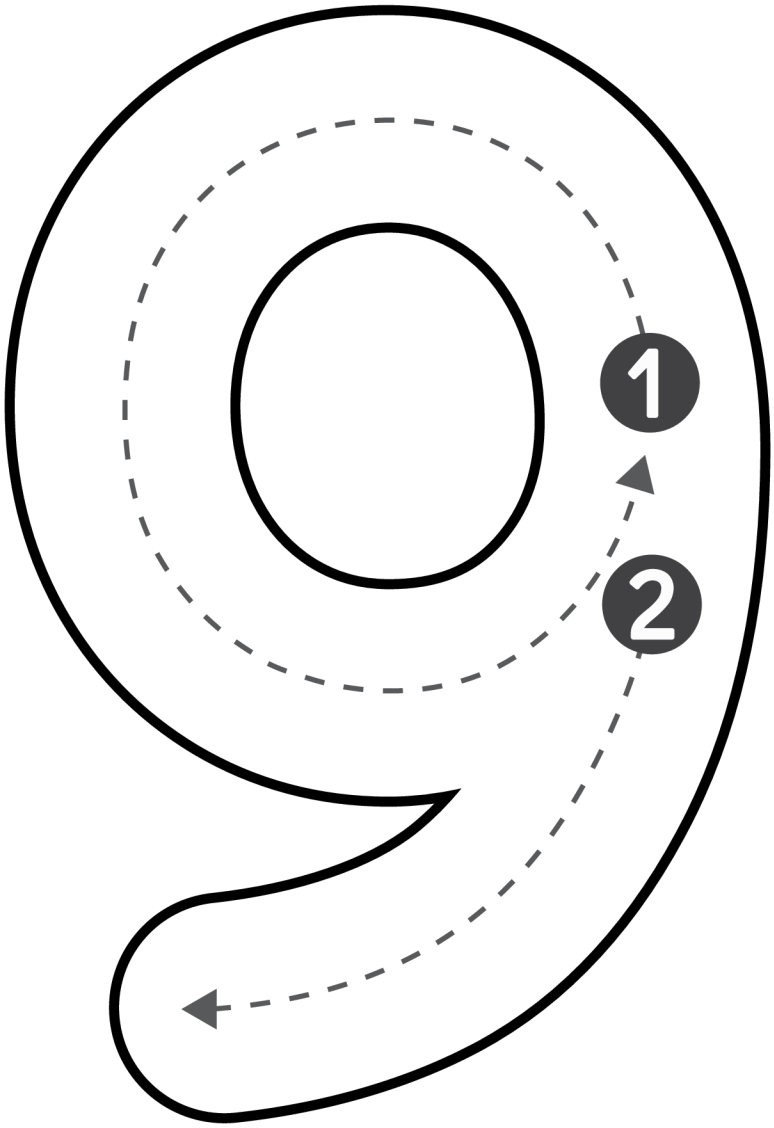
1. Introduce the number.
2. Ask your learner to trace the number with their finger.



Have your learner explore the number using physical and sensory activities. They can trace the number in sand or salt, form the number using objects from nature like sticks, walk in the shape of the number, or form the number with dough or clay. Explore the number in a variety of ways this week.

Color the pictures pink.
Look outside and around the house for things that are pink.
